

A large, multi-tiered stone aqueduct with numerous arches spanning a river, surrounded by greenery and a blue sky. The aqueduct is built from light-colored stone blocks and features two distinct levels of arches. The lower level has larger, more prominent arches, while the upper level consists of smaller, more closely spaced arches. The structure is situated on a rocky riverbank with some green vegetation. The water in the river is calm, reflecting the sky and the structure. The sky is a clear, bright blue.

- Qui ? Inconnus
- Où ? Gard, France
- Quand ? I<sup>er</sup> siècle

Timeline of history periods:

- Préhistoire
- Antiquité
- Moyen Âge
- Temps modernes
- Époque contemporaine